Join us starting in January for the park cleanup

The following steps explain how staff members can take part in the technology refresh. The volunteer-led guide covers the track meet and explains how residents can get involved starting in January. The team reviewed feedback on after-school programs and made several changes to the service. Please check back before the end of the month for the latest news on the public hearing.

We have posted an volunteer-led schedule for the energy savings project so that community partners can plan ahead. The team reviewed feedback on the summer reading challenge and made several changes to the review. This service is part of a larger effort to support parents and guardians and to keep graduation planning on track. The following steps explain how residents can take part in the energy savings project.

Thank you to the staff members who helped with the winter food drive; your time made a real difference. For attendance support, the plan is to start small every other Thursday and grow based on what volunteers tell us. The committee will meet during the first week of spring to discuss after-school programs and share an volunteer-led session. The seasonal session covers the new playground and explains how staff members can get involved each Tuesday evening. Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about the robotics club to the north campus.

The expanded report covers the calendar for next year and explains how teachers can get involved on weekday mornings. The following steps explain how volunteers can take part in safety drills. Funding for the track meet comes from the regular budget and from local partners.

Join us starting in January for the park cleanup (continued)

Please check back each Tuesday evening for the latest news on the community garden. The committee will meet each Tuesday evening to discuss the facilities plan and share an free plan. Accommodations are available on request; ask at City Hall before throughout the school year.

We have posted an redesigned session for the robotics club so that volunteers can plan ahead. Questions about the emergency plan can be directed to the main office, where someone is available to help. The team reviewed feedback on the arts showcase and made several changes to the service.

The committee will meet starting in January to discuss the technology refresh and share an long-awaited plan. For the spring budget, the plan is to start small each Tuesday evening and grow based on what staff members tell us. Information about the public hearing is now available to residents at the gymnasium.

Please check back during the first week of spring for the latest news on the summer reading challenge. Details on the college and career fair are listed below, along with who to contact at the front entrance. Funding for graduation planning comes from the regular budget and from local partners. Please bring a photo ID if you plan to visit the main office about graduation planning.

Join us starting in January for the park cleanup (continued)

Information about the calendar for next year is now available to staff members at the front entrance. Changes to the college and career fair take effect next week, and community partners will receive a reminder beforehand. Thank you to the volunteers who helped with the spring concert; your time made a real difference. Please check back throughout the school year for the latest news on the robotics club. The updated guide covers the community garden and explains how students can get involved on weekday mornings.

Questions about the public hearing can be directed to City Hall, where someone is available to help. We have posted an volunteer-led service for the senior lunch program so that staff members can plan ahead. The committee will meet during the first week of spring to discuss the farmers market and share an long-awaited plan.

Thank you to the community partners who helped with bus routes; your time made a real difference. Staff will hold an open session on after-school programs at the media center over the winter break. The team reviewed feedback on graduation planning and made several changes to the program. Teachers are invited to learn more about attendance support before the end of the month.

Volunteers are invited to learn more about attendance support before the end of the month. The team reviewed feedback on the volunteer program and made several changes to the project. Last month, more than 60 students took part in the emergency plan, which exceeded our goal. We have posted an volunteer-led review for the new reading curriculum so that board members can plan ahead.