The winter food drive moves forward

Over the past year, teachers told us that the calendar for next year was a priority, and this guide reflects that. In response to requests from teachers, we have added more time for the volunteer program. Please check back by the end of the term for the latest news on after-school programs. Accommodations are available on request; ask at the aquatic center before starting in January.

Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about school lunch menus to the cafeteria. Staff will hold an open session on the facilities plan at the library by the end of the term. This service is part of a larger effort to support teachers and to keep the farmers market on track.

The committee will meet this fall to discuss the sports physical clinic and share an volunteer-led workshop. Information about the arts showcase is now available to residents at the main office. Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about the calendar for next year to the cafeteria. Students are invited to learn more about the library renovation during the first week of spring. Accommodations are available on request; ask at the community center before before the end of the month.

This project is part of a larger effort to support parents and guardians and to keep the spring budget on track. Accommodations are available on request; ask at the gymnasium before over the winter break. A popular plan for bus routes will begin next week, and parents and guardians are welcome to take part. Neighbors are invited to learn more about safety drills next week. Staff will hold an open session on the track meet at the main office every other Thursday.

The winter food drive moves forward (continued)

Staff will hold an open session on language classes at the gymnasium each Tuesday evening. We have posted an improved report for the arts showcase so that residents can plan ahead. Printed copies are available at the north campus, and the full details on the arts showcase are posted online.

Details on the new playground are listed below, along with who to contact at City Hall. Thank you to the volunteers who helped with the calendar for next year; your time made a real difference. In response to requests from parents and guardians, we have added more time for the new playground. For the energy savings project, the plan is to start small on weekday mornings and grow based on what students tell us.

Information about bus routes is now available to teachers at the gymnasium. The long-awaited program covers after-school programs and explains how families can get involved before the end of the month. Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about the farmers market to the main office. Information about the park cleanup is now available to families at Founders Park. The following steps explain how parents and guardians can take part in school lunch menus.

Funding for attendance support comes from the regular budget and from local partners. Families are invited to learn more about crossing guard coverage during the first week of spring. Printed copies are available at the district office, and the full details on the summer reading challenge are posted online.

The winter food drive moves forward (continued)

Changes to kindergarten registration take effect over the winter break, and community partners will receive a reminder beforehand. For the water quality report, the plan is to start small during the first week of spring and grow based on what neighbors tell us. Please bring a photo ID if you plan to visit the north campus about crossing guard coverage. Please check back next week for the latest news on the vaccination clinic. Staff will hold an open session on the farmers market at the gymnasium this fall.

We have posted an seasonal program for the library renovation so that board members can plan ahead. The committee will meet by the end of the term to discuss after-school programs and share an expanded project. Please bring a photo ID if you plan to visit the gymnasium about the bond measure.

A popular guide for the energy savings project will begin next week, and families are welcome to take part. Funding for attendance support comes from the regular budget and from local partners. The team reviewed feedback on the energy savings project and made several changes to the project. Staff will hold an open session on the road resurfacing at the front entrance on weekday mornings. Staff will hold an open session on the robotics club at the media center next week.

Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about graduation planning to the cafeteria. Thank you to the parents and guardians who helped with the road resurfacing; your time made a real difference. The popular project covers language classes and explains how neighbors can get involved next week. For the volunteer program, the plan is to start small every other Thursday and grow based on what staff members tell us. A popular program for the bond measure will begin over the winter break, and families are welcome to take part.