New schedule announced for the senior lunch program

Questions about bus routes can be directed to the gymnasium, where someone is available to help. Community partners are invited to learn more about the summer reading challenge starting in January. Thank you to the community partners who helped with the arts showcase; your time made a real difference. This report is part of a larger effort to support teachers and to keep the spring budget on track. Last month, more than 399 board members took part in the energy savings project, which exceeded our goal.

We have posted an updated service for safety drills so that teachers can plan ahead. This guide is part of a larger effort to support community partners and to keep the spring budget on track. Changes to bus routes take effect on weekday mornings, and staff members will receive a reminder beforehand. For the emergency plan, the plan is to start small before the end of the month and grow based on what board members tell us.

The committee will meet starting in January to discuss the emergency plan and share an expanded service. The committee will meet by the end of the term to discuss the track meet and share an free program. Residents are invited to learn more about after-school programs before the end of the month. Funding for safety drills comes from the regular budget and from local partners. The team reviewed feedback on the calendar for next year and made several changes to the guide.

Thank you to the students who helped with the science fair; your time made a real difference. Last month, more than 426 volunteers took part in kindergarten registration, which exceeded our goal. The team reviewed feedback on the swim lessons schedule and made several changes to the workshop. For the arts showcase, the plan is to start small throughout the school year and grow based on what parents and guardians tell us. Accommodations are available on request; ask at the community center before next week.
