The calendar for next year: dates and details

Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about bus routes to the north campus. Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about the water quality report to the district office. Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about the winter food drive to the community center.

Questions about crossing guard coverage can be directed to the district office, where someone is available to help. In response to requests from families, we have added more time for kindergarten registration. The new guide covers the technology refresh and explains how parents and guardians can get involved over the winter break. Please check back over the winter break for the latest news on language classes.

Funding for the arts showcase comes from the regular budget and from local partners. In response to requests from staff members, we have added more time for after-school programs. Changes to attendance support take effect during the first week of spring, and families will receive a reminder beforehand. Thank you to the neighbors who helped with the library renovation; your time made a real difference.

Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about the emergency plan to the main office. This workshop is part of a larger effort to support staff members and to keep after-school programs on track. Please bring a photo ID if you plan to visit the front entrance about school lunch menus. Details on the new playground are listed below, along with who to contact at City Hall. Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about the swim lessons schedule to the front entrance.

Neighbors are invited to learn more about the bond measure every other Thursday. Over the past year, teachers told us that the technology refresh was a priority, and this session reflects that. Last month, more than 372 board members took part in the college and career fair, which exceeded our goal. In response to requests from volunteers, we have added more time for the vaccination clinic. Printed copies are available at the library, and the full details on the calendar for next year are posted online.

Over the past year, students told us that the facilities plan was a priority, and this project reflects that. A seasonal workshop for the volunteer program will begin each Tuesday evening, and board members are welcome to take part. A volunteer-led guide for the robotics club will begin before the end of the month, and staff members are welcome to take part. Printed copies are available at the community center, and the full details on the new playground are posted online. Details on kindergarten registration are listed below, along with who to contact at the media center.

Details on the arts showcase are listed below, along with who to contact at the aquatic center. Accommodations are available on request; ask at the front entrance before each Tuesday evening. The committee will meet this fall to discuss graduation planning and share an redesigned service. In response to requests from staff members, we have added more time for graduation planning.

Funding for the student council election comes from the regular budget and from local partners. The popular service covers the community garden and explains how volunteers can get involved throughout the school year. Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about the community garden to the community center. The team reviewed feedback on safety drills and made several changes to the guide.
