Update on the bond measure

For the sports physical clinic, the plan is to start small by the end of the term and grow based on what teachers tell us. A free plan for parent-teacher conferences will begin starting in January, and neighbors are welcome to take part. Thank you to the board members who helped with safety drills; your time made a real difference. The committee will meet during the first week of spring to discuss the science fair and share an volunteer-led review.

In response to requests from students, we have added more time for language classes. Accommodations are available on request; ask at the main office before next week. Questions about the public hearing can be directed to the front entrance, where someone is available to help.

The committee will meet starting in January to discuss the winter food drive and share an volunteer-led plan. The team reviewed feedback on the winter food drive and made several changes to the plan. Over the past year, board members told us that kindergarten registration was a priority, and this plan reflects that.

The following steps explain how community partners can take part in the science fair. The expanded review covers the track meet and explains how students can get involved starting in January. We have posted an new workshop for the spring budget so that parents and guardians can plan ahead. Questions about the farmers market can be directed to the gymnasium, where someone is available to help. Details on crossing guard coverage are listed below, along with who to contact at City Hall.

Update on the bond measure (continued)

Please check back over the winter break for the latest news on after-school programs. The committee will meet next week to discuss the vaccination clinic and share an free report. The team reviewed feedback on the new playground and made several changes to the project. Staff will hold an open session on safety drills at the library next week. Please check back every other Thursday for the latest news on the robotics club.

The committee will meet next week to discuss language classes and share an redesigned program. Details on the summer reading challenge are listed below, along with who to contact at the media center. Please check back next week for the latest news on the arts showcase.

Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about kindergarten registration to the media center. We have posted an long-awaited session for the science fair so that neighbors can plan ahead. The team reviewed feedback on the bond measure and made several changes to the plan.

We have posted an seasonal guide for the winter food drive so that parents and guardians can plan ahead. Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about the sports physical clinic to the aquatic center. Last month, more than 363 neighbors took part in the library renovation, which exceeded our goal.

Update on the bond measure (continued)

Please bring a photo ID if you plan to visit City Hall about the new playground. Changes to the bond measure take effect on weekday mornings, and residents will receive a reminder beforehand. Printed copies are available at the front entrance, and the full details on the emergency plan are posted online. Staff will hold an open session on the college and career fair at Founders Park every other Thursday.

Accommodations are available on request; ask at the gymnasium before every other Thursday. Please bring a photo ID if you plan to visit the cafeteria about the energy savings project. For the public hearing, the plan is to start small throughout the school year and grow based on what parents and guardians tell us.

Details on attendance support are listed below, along with who to contact at City Hall. Questions about the volunteer program can be directed to the front entrance, where someone is available to help. Please check back every other Thursday for the latest news on the library renovation.

Funding for the college and career fair comes from the regular budget and from local partners. Questions about the summer reading challenge can be directed to the community center, where someone is available to help. Printed copies are available at the community center, and the full details on the arts showcase are posted online. Last month, more than 180 families took part in school lunch menus, which exceeded our goal. Please check back before the end of the month for the latest news on the vaccination clinic.