Update on the summer reading challenge

The team reviewed feedback on the farmers market and made several changes to the schedule. The improved session covers the summer reading challenge and explains how volunteers can get involved over the winter break. Thank you to the volunteers who helped with the college and career fair; your time made a real difference. Over the past year, volunteers told us that crossing guard coverage was a priority, and this guide reflects that.

The committee will meet starting in January to discuss the robotics club and share an volunteer-led schedule. Anyone who cannot attend in person can send comments about the winter food drive to the aquatic center. Please check back during the first week of spring for the latest news on the library renovation. Please check back over the winter break for the latest news on the winter food drive.

In response to requests from teachers, we have added more time for the college and career fair. Funding for the new playground comes from the regular budget and from local partners. Information about after-school programs is now available to teachers at City Hall.

Please bring a photo ID if you plan to visit the media center about the technology refresh. Changes to the emergency plan take effect every other Thursday, and board members will receive a reminder beforehand. The committee will meet by the end of the term to discuss the arts showcase and share an expanded program. Questions about the senior lunch program can be directed to the community center, where someone is available to help.
